

As seen in the pages of Time Out New York

EatOutings

Spain and pleasure

Australian wines aren't the only ones kicking French ass. Spain gets some credit too — especially for the rising popularity of its Rioja wines. But what do you really know about the Rioja region? Or Spanish vineyards in general? Craig Skiptunis, owner of Bistro Ten 18 restaurant, will be pouring more than a dozen wines from Spain and explaining how and why they can taste so good — and different. He'll also serve Spanish cheeses, olives, serrano ham and tapas. Wines from Spain. Bistro Ten 18. 1018 Amsterdam Ave at 110th St. Tue 27 7-9pm. For more information, call 212-662-7600. $24.50 in advance, $28.50 at the door.

*Reprinted with permission by Time Out New York
Issue 434, January 22-29, 2004, p.32*